ART LOVERS VISIT CORCORAN GALLERY

Sunday Opening Attracts More Than 2,000 Persons.

SOME IMPORTANT ADDITIONS

Notwithstanding the glorious which attracted thousands to Rock Cree Park, the Zoological Garden, and other out-door resorts, the reopening of the Corcoran Gallery of Art for its Sunday exhibitions yesterday was attended by more than 2,000 visitors. There was a constant stream of people from this city and out of town from the opening of the heavy bronze dors at 1:30 o'clock until they were closed at 420. The gallery will be open on Sunday between these hours, free of charge, until fur ther notice.

Since the last Sunday opening several important acquisitions to the gallery have been made, among them being the painting entitled "Deborah." by the late Sarah Paxton Ball Dodson, and a canva by Thomas W. Dewing, entitled "Lad with a Mask." Dewing ranks as one with a Mask." Dewing ranks as one of the first contemporary painters in Amer-ica. His pictures are always executed with great delicacy and refinement and the "Lacy with a Mask" is a fine spec-imen of his style. The gallery considers itself fortunate in the acquirement of this picture.

Fosters American Art.

Although the Corcoran Gallery not contain many of the so-called old nasters, and works by foreign painters It is a fact that there are on its walls more specimens of the best American art than in any other art gallery any-where. It seems to be the tendency of the Corcoran management to foster American art and encourage the Amer-ican painter, and it is said in this conpection that the American painter com pares most favorably with his foreign competitors, and is rapidly coming into his own. While it used to be the proper thing a few years ago to go abroad and thing a few years ago to go abroad and buy pictures, it is now recognized that the works by American artists are more desirable than those by foreigners.

The Corcoran Gallery of Art, since its doors were first thrown open for Sunday visitors, fourteen years ago, has been visited by $9,000 people. Recognizing the great missionary and educational work it was doing among the masses, the National Museum and other government institutions also opened their doors on Sunday. The hours at the Corcoran have been specially arranged so as not to interfere with church work, and there has nover been a protest from those quarters.

"One-man" Exhibitons. "One-man" Exhibtions.

A series of interesting "one-man" exhiofficens have been arranged at the Corcoran for this season. The first exhibi-tion will open on December 2 and will consist of oil paintings, by #hillp Little, of Salem, Mass. This will be followed by of Salem, Mass. This will be followed by displays of paintings by such Am-rican artists as Elmer Schodeld, Gardner Symons, Childe Hassam, and others.

Local organizations, including the Society of Washington artists, the Washington Water Color Club, the Capital Camera Club, and others, will have an exhibition this season, as they have had in the past.
